

STATS CAMP
FALL STATS CAMP

September 14th - 16th, 2017

Camp Venue: Embassy Suites 900 East Birch St. Brea CA 92821

Instructor: Instructor, Katherine Masyn, Ph.D.

An intermediate 3-day course introducing latent class analysis with categorical, cross-sectional data using Mplus.

Instructor: Mauricio Garnier-Villarreal, Ph.D.

An introductory 3-day course about Bayesian Data Analysis, focus on the differences to the frequentist approach, and application of several models.

Instructor: Steve Reise, Ph.D.

An introductory 3-day course introducing item response theory measurement models applied to psychological and educational data.

Instructor: Todd D. Little, Ph.D. and Elizabeth Grandfield

An intermediate 3-day Stats Camp course introducing Longitudinal Structural Equation Modeling.

Instructor: Craig Enders, Ph.D.

An intermediate 3-day course introducing multiple imputation and maximum likelihood estimation for missing data.

Instructor: Larry Price, Ph.D.

An introductory 3-day course in the foundations of psychometrics. Participants should be proficient specific to the material covered in a two-semester graduate-level social science statistics course sequence.

Click Link to Launch Our Fall Camp Course Page

STATS CAMP is an Award Winning Enterprise with 2 National Awards

STATS CAMP Instructors have a combined 120,000 citations

“Great workshop, nicely
paced, good balance between theory and the
practicalities of doing
SEM. Definitely worth
the cost and, more
important to me,
worth my time.”

-Megan R. Gunnar,
Distinguished McKnight University
Professor, Institute for Child Development,
University of Minnesota